Talk About It

In today's Bible text, we learn in a very unique way about the body of Christ and how we each have a part in it. Talk with your child about how we belong to the congregational community. We need to think about what doing "our part" means. What is our part? What can we do to help? Children often think they are too young or that they do not need to help along yet because others can do it. Encourage your child to always look for ways they can help along in your congregational community. Brainstorm together a few things he can do every week. Talk about it.
